

Company-record verification

A directory entry, preserved certificate and current authority lookup are different evidence. Record the exact entity and dates rather than treating a familiar name or shared address as sufficient proof.

Exact legal name in the record

Issuing authority or publisher and public source address

Registration type and public identifier

Jurisdiction and product or activity covered

Issue, effective and end dates shown

Date the record was read; status actually displayed

What this record does not establish

Compare without merging identities

Field	Record A	Record B

Conflicting names, addresses, dates or telephone numbers

Current-status question to ask the responsible authority

Source or response needed before relying on the claim

The preserved Cash-Installment certificate is dated August 6, 2019 to June 30, 2020. Its presence does not establish current authorization. A directory profile does not transfer authority or establish the website operator's present relationship. See www.cash-installment.com/licensing/.
